

The Shapshifters

Writer

Brooklynn Fox

Publisher

ScribeSlice 2013

Chapter One: There Lives

Screaming is heard from the woods. A girl with blonde hair and blood on her shirt screams for help while trying to run on her gashed open leg, A rustling of leaves is heard. The girl turned around quickly scanning the area fast "Please don't hurt me no more please!" She cried out as tears rolled down her face. It all went silent then a growl was released, a black panther stepped out revealing its self covered in blood, the panther look into the girls eyes as it crouched down growling, then a gasp was released.

The girl was bent down on the ground crying until she looked up and notice she wasn't hurt that time she looked back to were the panther was. The panther was pinned down by a white wolf with brown eyes. The girl quickly got to her feet and ran screaming, the wolf lifted it head and saw her run, the wolf barked at the panther and ran after the girl. The girl tripped and hit her face, as she looked up she was face to face with the white wolf. She stood up and tried to go backwards but all of a sudden the panther pounced on her from behind, the panther ripped the girls back open killing her.

The white wolf was suddenly a girl with long brown hair and brown eyes and the panther was suddenly a girl with black hair and silver eyes. "MURA!" the brown haired girl yelled. Mura looked at the brown haired girl "WHAT'S WRONG LAYLA?" Mura said walking up to Layla. Layla looked at Mura again with a evil look and yelled "Im alpha don't you understand the orders I give you?!?" Mura hung her head low and whined saying sorry. "Lets get back to camp now!" Layla said transforming into her white wolf and Mura transforming into her panther dragging the body back.

The sun was going down as they made it back to camp. Layla walked into the den and Mura followed behind. Layla lied down and looked at the ground. Mura changed into a black wolf and curled up and fell asleep. Layla closed her eyes and fell asleep soon.

© Brooklynn Fox 2013

ScribeSlice